"HOME, CHURCH, COMMUNITY AND SCHOOL" THEME OF GATHERING

64th Annual Convention Opened its Four Days' Session in Brainerd This Afternoon With Every Indication of Large Attendance

Men and Women, High in Church Circles of the Country, are on the Program Which Will End Sunday With a Day of Religious Events

"Home, church, community and school" is the theme around which the 64th annual convention program of the Minnesota Sunday School association is built.

Brainerd welcomes this great convention to the city, the opening sessions occurring this afternoon and the proceedings extending to include Sunday.

Men and women, high in church circles of the country, are on the program which will end Sunday with a day of religious events.

Among the speakers scheduled are Dr. D. W. Kurtz, president of McPherson college, McPherson, Kansas; Dr. H. C. Swearingen, St. Paul; Preston G. Orwig, of the Young People's Division Council of the International Sunday School Council of Religious Education; Mrs. Isaac T. Sewell, Topeka, Children's Division Superintendent of the Kansas Sunday School association; Dr. Bert E. Smith; John H. Engle; J. Kirkwood Craig; Haydon Stright, and leaders of young people's work in half a dozen other states.

Sunday schools throughout the state are represented at the convention. One of the first delegations to arrive in Brainerd Wednesday night came from Kilkenny county, the utmost northern section of the state.

The weather is ideal for motoring. The temperature at Brainerd Wednesday had a maximum of 50 degrees at noon and 45 degrees at 6 o'clock in the evening. The minimum last night was 31 degrees. Today is warm and sunny.

Registration Exceeds Mankato's

Brainerd is expected to turn out in force this evening and during the remaining three days of the Minnesota state Sunday school convention now in session in this city. The doors of the different churches in which the meetings will be held are wide open, and a full attendance of Brainerd people is requested.

Registration to date far exceeds that of last year's convention which was held in Mankato, and there is no doubt but what the hospitality of the city will be taxed to the limit. A large delegation from International Falls arrived at three o'clock this morning, and others are coming in on every train. A special welcoming committee is meeting all trains with automobiles, and conducting the delegates to the First Congregational church, where registrations are made.

The program for Thursday is as follows:

- 3:00—Association Officers Efficiency Conference, J. C. Garrison, presiding, First Congregational church.
1. Distinctive program of Sunday School Association movement, R. W. Bowden, St. Paul.
  2. For Children's Division, Mrs. Isaac Sewall, Topeka, Kan.
  3. For Young Peoples' Division, Preston G. Orwig, Chicago.
  4. For Adult Division, Dr. Bert E. Smith, Chicago.
  5. For School Administration Division, R. W. Bowden, St. Paul.
  6. For General Education, Rev. J. Kirkwood Craig, Minneapolis.
- 6:00—Association Officers Banquet, First Congregational church.

EVENING SESSION

- 7:30—Evening session, Dr. Joseph Nicholson presiding, First Methodist church.
- Worship and Song, lead by H. C. Griebenow, Minneapolis. Chorus, "The Radiant Morn" by convention chorus.
- Welcome, By Mayor Frank E. Little.
- Convention response.
- "The Biggest Job in America" a survey of religious education, illustrated by Rev. J. Kirkwood Craig.
- Minnesota Association's Answer, J. C. Garrison.
- Offering and announcements, R. W. McLeod, Minneapolis.

Arrangements will be made for an overflow meeting in the First Baptist church if necessary, in which the above program will be duplicated in full.

Friday Morning Program

The program for Friday, Oct. 20.

Prime Minister Lloyd George has Resigned

NOW BELIEVED RECTOR AND CHOIR SINGER WERE SLAIN NEAR SCHOOL

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 19.—Prosecutor Beekman dropped out of sight during the night and is reported to be questioning a suspect in connection with the murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

This is understood to have followed disclosures that the rector and his choir singer sweetheart were slain in cold blood behind a school house on the Red Bank road, four miles from the abandoned Phillips farm, where the bodies were found.

A number of detectives who have been working on the case as well as several of the policemen, disappeared at the same time as Beekman. The two main witnesses—the owner of a bus line and an employee of Rutgers' college—have come forward with testimony that they heard a woman shrieking for mercy behind the school house on the Red Bank road about 10:30 p. m., September 14. They heard the woman cry: "Help," "police" and "don't murder me." A big automobile was discovered standing in the darkness beside the road near the school house.

A few minutes later this automobile passed the car at terrific speed.

It is the theory of the authorities that at the time the big car was being used to carry the bodies of the slain couple to the Phillips farm.

About 20 minutes later, the men testified, the same car whisked by them again—this time returning to ward New Brunswick from the direction of the Phillips farm where the corpses were laid out. They said a man crouched over the wheel. One report was that they said there was a woman seated beside the driver, but this could not be confirmed. Search behind the school house revealed an outhouse in which, according to the latest theory, the murders occurred. A pair of side combs were found on the ground nearby. Two handkerchiefs also were found, one a man's with an initial in the corner, the other a woman's. Charlotte Mills, daughter of the slain woman, is said to have identified the latter as one of her mother's. This, a small filmy affair, was found both being bloodstained.

When this new information came to the authorities, they summoned Mrs. Hall and her brothers, Henry and William, for questioning. All were interrogated, and Mrs. Hall was confronted with a "mysterious woman," in reality a Hungarian farmer's wife, simply to distract her attention while the two new witnesses viewed her from the side. The only result was that the widow and her brothers left the court house and returned to their homes.

However, Beekman's disappearance last night, caused the report that he had a new clue which he was following in secret. Beekman was located later at Somerville. He refused to discuss the events of the night. The new investigation is still in progress.

AMERICAN LEGION IN BAD STRAITS TO SELECT COMMANDER

DOZEN CANDIDATES ARE IN THE FIELD TO SUCCEED HANFORD MACNIDER

ELECTION FRIDAY IS THE PRINCIPAL TOPIC OF DISCUSSION

(By United Press)
New Orleans, La., Oct. 19.—The American Legion is finding it difficult to select a new national commander to succeed Hanford MacNider.

A dozen candidates are in the field but none has developed enough to assure his election.

The election Friday was the principal topic of discussion as the convention went into session today.

Supporters of William P. Beegan of New York were confident that he will win, but other candidates insisted Beegan's assured strength was not more than twenty per cent of the thousand votes.

His candidacy has been complicated by his row with Colonel C. H. Forbes, director of the United States Veterans bureau, which resulted in Forbes' departure and the cancellation of his engagement to speak before the convention.

Beegan's principal campaign medicine has been his attack on the Veterans Bureau.

It was reported that Franklin D'Olier, past national commander, was ready to advance the name of General James A. Drain of Washington, D. C. Drain has been commander of that department and member of the rehabilitation committee.

A. A. Sprague, chairman of the rehabilitation committee, another candidate, was to return home today.

Sawyer is Target for Debate

New Orleans, Oct. 19.—The American Legion has asked for the resignation of Brigadier General Sawyer, Chief Coordinator of the Federal Hospitalization Department.

The Legion voiced its denunciation and removal of President Harding's personal physician from the hospital staff.

The resolution was introduced by Gerald V. Barron, State Commander of Minnesota. Before roll call a heated debate was in progress.

COLONIAL LINER CONCORD ON FIRE, SAVE PASSENGERS

FLAMES BROKE OUT WHEN ENROUTE TO PROVIDENCE

(By United Press)
Providence, R. I., Oct. 19.—Passengers aboard the Concord, Colonial line steamer, enroute from New York to Providence, were roused from their berths when the cargo caught on fire as the steamer was approaching this port.

The Mohegan, a freighter, was signalled and the passengers transferred to the same, small boats affecting the exchange. The fire was evidently quickly extinguished. Not much damage was done to the boat and the cargo loss was slight.

POPULAR INDIFFERENCE TO APPEAL OF POLITICS THIS YEAR

REVEALED IN REGISTRATION FIGURES COMPILED BY THE UNITED PRESS

LOCAL ISSUES ARE ONLY POINTS AROUSING PARTISANSHIP, REPORTED

(By L. C. MARTIN)
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, Oct. 19.—The extent of popular indifference to the appeal of politics this year is revealed in registration figures compiled by the United Press.

These figures emphasize two facts previously apparent to political leaders from their general observations:

1. That the public generally is about fifty per cent less interested in this year's congressional election than it was in the presidential campaign in 1920.
2. That the only places where interest approximates or exceeds that of 1920 are those where local issues have aroused partisanship.

LEMKE SAYS HE OWNS FARGO COURIER-NEWS

Fargo, Oct. 19.—The Fargo Courier-News, morning newspaper here and regarded as official publication of the Nonpartisan league, is the property of William Lemke (league candidate for governor) and of the Nonpartisan Publishing company, according to Mr. Lemke's answer to a suit, instituted by members of the league demanding that the paper be turned over to them.

INTERFERENCE BAN ON ROADS MAY BE LIFTED

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Notice of a motion to dissolve the interlocutory injunction restraining striking railroad shopmen and union officials from interfering in any way with rail transportation was served on the United States district attorney yesterday by Donald R. Richberg, counsel for the shopcrafts. The motion will be presented to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today with request that it be set for hearing.

One of the principal objections to the injunction are that "the conditions described in the bill of complaint, if they ever existed, no longer exist." It is claimed that a large proportion of the railroads involved have settled and that the settlements automatically disposed of the grievances alleged.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Motion for dismissal of the Daugherty injunction restraining leaders of the railroad shopcrafts union from proceeding with their strike was made before Judge James H. Wilkerson in federal court today.

Donald Richberg, attorney for the union, petitioned the court to dismiss the injunction on the following grounds:

1. That a large portions of the railroads which are named in the petition asking an injunction have settled their dispute and there is no further controversy.
2. That the conditions set forth in the bill as they would really exist are now not in existence and there is no further reason for continuing the restraining order.

Hearing on the motion was continued until tomorrow as the government was not represented.

Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty is expected to be here personally for the argument.

JACOBSON ASKS FOR CAR RELIEF

Telegraphs Federal Official of Acute Situation in Northwest (Minnesota Daily Star)

The freight car crisis in Minnesota can not be remedied if interstate commerce commission representatives stay at their desks or in hotels instead of going into the districts where cars are needed to find out the facts.

This is, in effect, the advice contained in a telegram sent by O. P. B. Jacobson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner to C. B. Aitchison, interstate commerce commissioner in Washington today, in which he directs attention to the immediate need of cars to move grain, potatoes, produce, livestock and other products of the farm.

Mr. Jacobson said that the Great Northern railway Saturday had orders for 2,285 cars, but was able to supply only 202 cars. The Northern Pacific had orders for 1,621 cars, but was able to supply only 98, while the Soo had order for 795 cars, and was able to supply only 49 to points within the state.

PRESENTS RESIGNATION TO KING AFTER UNIONIST CAUCUS WAS HELD

This Marks the End of the Coalition Government—Comprised of Liberal and Unionist Parties—Which Came Into Being During World War

Understood Bonar Law May be Asked to Form a Ministry; Resignation of Lloyd George Marks Passing of Last of "Big Four" of Versailles Peace Pact

By United Press

Resignation of Premier Lloyd George of England marks the passing of the last of the "Big Four" of the Versailles peace conference. Lloyd George, former President Wilson, former Premier Clemenceau of France, and former Premier Orlando of Italy, comprised the "Big Four." It was these four men sitting alone in the private study in the house occupied by Wilson or Lloyd George who made the decision governing the peace treaty.

One after another the members of the "Big Four" have met serious political defeat, and been retired to private life.

Orlando was the first to go, being overthrown while the peace conference was still in session.

President Wilson, after a long fight following the League of Nations covenant and the entire treaty rejected by the senate, and Governor Cox, whom he supported for the presidency, was overwhelmingly defeated.

Clemenceau resigned as premier, becoming a candidate for the French presidency, and was sadly defeated.

Lloyd George outlasted them all, weathering crisis after crisis brought on by repeated attacks.

London, Oct. 19.—Lloyd George resigned as prime minister of Great Britain this afternoon.

He presented his resignation to King George at Buckingham palace after the unionist caucus, which met at the Carlton club, had repudiated his ministry.

This marks the end of the coalition government—comprised of liberal and unionist parties—which came into being during the World war.

It is understood Lloyd George advised King George to invite Bonar Law to form a ministry. The king is to summon Law before him tonight and in keeping with the British political traditions, will fulfill the requests of the premier.

Bonar Law was the active leader of the unionist party until about a year ago when his health broke down. At that time the reins of leadership passed to Austin Chamberlain, the parliamentary leader of the coalition, and keeper of the privy seal. However, Chamberlain was never formally invested with the leadership of the party.

The statesman whom the king probably will ask to form a government has been more active in politics recently. It has been said that he has been the real power behind Chamberlain.

Law was leader of the conservative forces in the house of commons between 1911 and 1915. He was Lloyd George's strongest conservative supporter from the time of the formation of the coalition in the midst of the war and until 1921 when Bonar Law took his physician's advice and went into retirement.

It was considered improbable by some observers that Bonar Law will be able to form a ministry because to be successful he would have to command a majority in the house of commons.

This would mean that many liberals would have to vote in favor of Bonar Law, a conservative.

Lloyd George is to meet his liberal supporters in a caucus at 6 p. m. Austin Chamberlain also has called a caucus of the conservative supporters of the premier.

At these conferences it will be decided what attitude is to be taken toward a successor to Lloyd George. In case Bonar Law is unable to bring the various factions together to form a ministry, it is possible that King George might summon Lloyd George to form a new government.

Announcement of Lloyd George's resignation was made by him to a delegation of miners. He said he had tendered his resignation and the King had accepted it. An official announcement is expected to be made forthwith.

The carriers which may combine follow: The Great Northern, the Northern Pacific, and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. It was stated in railroad circles that the negotiations have reached such a stage that the railroads perhaps plan to call representatives of J. P. Morgan & Company, into the conference.

conservative premier if successful at the polls.

This amounts to a repudiation of the coalition government, and of Lloyd George unless the prime minister will definitely announce himself as a conservative.

At present, although head of the coalition government, Lloyd George is considered a liberal. The unionist vote, according to authorities, means that Lloyd George probably will resign as premier, having indicated this would be his action if the unionist caucus failed to support Chamberlain, who has stood for the coalition.

Official Announcement

London, Oct. 19.—It was officially announced that Lloyd George has resigned as premier and that King George had advised Andrew Bonar Law to form a cabinet.

3 LARGE RAILWAY SYSTEMS MAY MERGE

(By United Press)

New York, Oct. 19.—Executives of three of the nations leading railroads having a combined capital of $1,700,000,000, and aggregate trackage of 34,000 miles, discussed merger here today.

The carriers which may combine follow:

The Great Northern, the Northern Pacific, and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. It was stated in railroad circles that the negotiations have reached such a stage that the railroads perhaps plan to call representatives of J. P. Morgan & Company, into the conference.

Prime Minister Lloyd George has Resigned

NOW BELIEVED RECTOR AND CHOIR SINGER WERE SLAIN NEAR SCHOOL

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 19.—Prosecutor Beekman dropped out of sight during the night and is reported to be questioning a suspect in connection with the murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

This is understood to have followed disclosures that the rector and his choir singer sweetheart were slain in cold blood behind a school house on the Red Bank road, four miles from the abandoned Phillips farm, where the bodies were found.

A number of detectives who have been working on the case as well as several of the policemen, disappeared at the same time as Beekman. The two main witnesses—the owner of a bus line and an employee of Rutgers college—have come forward with testimony that they heard a woman shrieking for mercy behind the school house on the Red Bank road about 10:30 p. m., September 14. They heard the woman cry: "Help," "police" and "don't murder me." A big automobile was discovered standing in the darkness beside the road near the school house.

A few minutes later this automobile passed the car at terrific speed.

It is the theory of the authorities that at the time the big car was being used to carry the bodies of the slain couple to the Phillips farm.

About 20 minutes later, the men testified, the same car whisked by them again—this time returning toward New Brunswick from the direction of the Phillips farm where the corpses were laid out. They said a man crouched over the wheel. One report was that they said there was a woman seated beside the driver, but this could not be confirmed. Search behind the school house revealed an outhouse in which, according to the latest theory, the murders occurred. A pair of side combs were found on the ground nearby. Two handkerchiefs also were found, one a man's with an initial in the corner, the other a woman's. Charlotte Mills, daughter of the slain woman, is said to have identified the latter as one of her mother's. This, a small filmy affair, was found both being bloodstained.

When this new information came to the authorities, they summoned Mrs. Hall and her brothers, Henry and William, for questioning. All were interrogated, and Mrs. Hall was confronted with a "mysterious woman," in reality a Hungarian farmer's wife, simply to distract her attention while the two new witnesses viewed her from the side. The only result was that the widow and her brothers left the court house and returned to their homes.

However, Beekman's disappearance last night, caused the report that he had a new clue which he was following in secret. Beekman was located later at Somerville. He refused to discuss the events of the night. The new investigation is still in progress.

AMERICAN LEGION IN BAD STRAITS TO SELECT COMMANDER

DOZEN CANDIDATES ARE IN THE FIELD TO SUCCEED HANFORD MacNIDER

ELECTION FRIDAY IS THE PRINCIPAL TOPIC OF DISCUSSION

(By United Press)
New Orleans, La., Oct. 19.—The American Legion is finding it difficult to select a new national commander to succeed Hanford MacNider.

A dozen candidates are in the field but none has developed enough to assure his election.

The election Friday was the principal topic of discussion at the convention went into session today.

Supporters of William P. Beegan of New York were confident that he will win, but other candidates insisted Beegan's assured strength was not more than twenty per cent of the thousand votes.

His candidacy has been complicated by his row with Colonel C. H. Forbes, director of the United States Veterans bureau, which resulted in Forbes departure and the cancellation of his engagement to speak before the convention.

Beegan's principal campaign medicine has been his attack on the Veterans Bureau.

It was reported that Franklin D'Olier, past national commander, was ready to advance the name of General James A. Drain of Washington, D. C. Drain has been commander of that department and member of the rehabilitation committee.

A. A. Sprague, chairman of the rehabilitation committee, another candidate, was to return home today.

Sawyer is Target for Debate

New Orleans, Oct. 19.—The American Legion has asked for the resignation of Brigadier General Sawyer, Chief Coordinator of the Federal Hospitalization Department.

The Legion voiced its denunciation and removal of President Harding's personal physician from the hospital staff.

The resolution was introduced by Gerald V. Barron, State Commander of Minnesota. Before roll call a heated debate was in progress.

POPULAR INDIFFERENCE TO APPEAL OF POLITICS THIS YEAR

REVEALED IN REGISTRATION FIGURES COMPILED BY THE UNITED PRESS

LOCAL ISSUES ARE ONLY POINTS AROUSING PARTISANSHIP, REPORTED

Washington, Oct. 19.—The extent of popular indifference to the appeal of politics this year is revealed in registration figures compiled by the United Press.

These figures emphasize two facts previously apparent to political leaders from their general observations:

1. That the public generally is about fifty per cent less interested in this year's congressional election than it was in the presidential campaign in 1920.
2. That the only places where interest approximates or exceeds that of 1920 are those where local issues have aroused partisanship.

London, Oct. 19.—Lloyd George resigned as prime minister of Great Britain this afternoon.

He presented his resignation to King George at Buckingham palace after the unionist caucus, which met at the Carlton club, had repudiated his ministry.

This marks the end of the coalition government—comprised of liberal and unionist parties—which came into being during the World war.

It is understood Lloyd George advised King George to invite Bonar Law to form a ministry. The king is to summon Law before him tonight and in keeping with the British political traditions, will fulfill the requests of the premier.

Bonar Law was the active leader of the unionist party until about a year ago when his health broke down. At that time the reins of leadership passed to Austin Chamberlain, the parliamentary leader of the coalition, and keeper of the privy seal. However, Chamberlain was never formally invested with the leadership of the party.

The statesman whom the king probably will ask to form a government has been more active in politics recently. It has been said that he has been the real power behind Chamberlain.

Law was leader of the conservative forces in the house of commons between 1911 and 1915. He was Lloyd George's strongest conservative supporter from the time of the formation of the coalition in the midst of the war and until 1921 when Bonar Law took his physician's advice and went into retirement.

It was considered improbable by some observers that Bonar Law will be able to form a ministry because to be successful he would have to command a majority in the house of commons.

This would mean that many liberals would have to vote in favor of Bonar Law, a conservative.

Lloyd George is to meet his liberal supporters in a caucus at 6 p. m. Austin Chamberlain also has called a caucus of the conservative supporters of the premier.

At these conferences it will be decided what attitude is to be taken toward a successor to Lloyd George. In case Bonar Law is unable to bring the various factions together to form a ministry, it is possible that King George might summon Lloyd George to form a new government.

Announcement of Lloyd George's resignation was made by him to a delegation of miners. He said he had tendered his resignation and the King had accepted it. An official announcement is expected to be made forthwith.

Unionist Caucus Meeting

London, Oct. 19.—The unionist caucus meeting at the Carlton club today voted 186 to 87 in favor of appealing to the country at a general election as a united conservative party.

The vote carried with it the party's announced intention of having a conservative premier if successful at the polls.

This amounts to a repudiation of the coalition government, and of Lloyd George unless the prime minister will definitely announce himself as a conservative.

At present, although head of the coalition government, Lloyd George is considered a liberal. The unionist vote, according to authorities, means that Lloyd George probably will resign as premier, having indicated this would be his action if the unionist caucus failed to support Chamberlain, who has stood for the coalition.

Official Announcement

London, Oct. 19.—It was officially announced that Lloyd George has resigned as premier and that King George had advised Andrew Bonar Law to form a cabinet.

3 LARGE RAILWAY SYSTEMS MAY MERGE

(By United Press)

New York, Oct. 19.—Executives of three of the nations leading railroads having a combined capital of $1,700,000,000, and aggregate trackage of 34,000 miles, discussed merger here today.

The carriers which may combine follow:

The Great Northern, the Northern Pacific, and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. It was stated in railroad circles that the negotiations have reached such a stage that the railroads perhaps plan to call representatives of J. P. Morgan & Company, into the conference.

NEW WITNESS IN TWIN
BABIES MURDER CHARGE

(By United Press)
Hammond, Ind., Oct. 19.—A new witness who saw one of the twin babies Mrs. Haze McNally is alleged to have murdered was produced at her preliminary hearing today.

Miss Katherine Griffith, daughter of the nurse who cared for Mrs. Mc-Nally at the time the children were supposed to have been born, said she saw Mrs. McNally mistaking for a baby on several occasions.

She said she saw only one child, never two, as represented by the dolls Mrs. McNally cared for after the twins were alleged to have been slain.

SKIN DISEASE

Any skin disease such as acne, eczema, psoriasis, etc. is very unpleasant, but if the organs of elimination are working properly there will be no skin disease. If there is subluxation (displacement) of the vertebrae (small bones of the spine), causing nerve pressure and preventing the vital force from flowing freely to the kidneys, the latter will not function properly and the excretion will be thrown off by the pores of the skin, causing eczema and similar disorders. TRY CHIROPRACTIC VERTEBRAL ADJUST-MENTS for skin trouble and keep your eliminatory organs "up to

FREE VACCINE TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

Brainerd School Board Offers Same to Them and Those Just Under School Age, Once a Year

SCHOOL DISTRICT 14 EPIDEMIC
Reported by School Nurse, Miss Eula
Michael, as Having Many Cases of Smallpox

The Brainerd school board offers free smallpox vaccine to the school children and children just under school age, once a year. In this way the board hopes to prevent a repetition of the type of epidemic experienced a few years ago. The majority of the children in the upper grades have been vaccinated and each year it is offered to children coming into the community and to the younger children.

Smallpox is a highly contagious disease, but is easily preventable by vaccinating, easily a great deal of sickness and expense.

Practically all cases at the present time are of a mild form, however there are occasional deaths and deaths from smallpox are deaths from carelessness quite the same as deaths from automobile accidents.

Notices will be sent the unvaccinated children by the school nurse, Miss Eula Michael, which are to be signed and returned to school if the parents desire the vaccine.

A school district, No. 14, near Brainerd is now having an epidemic of smallpox and for that reason the vaccine will be offered at this time.

ST. MATHIAS

Mrs. Cossette, Laura, Della and Willie Cossette of Brainerd, and Fred Cossette of Minneapolis were visitors at the home of Frank Veillette on Thursday evening.

A large crowd attended the party at Koering's Friday night. One of the Daggett Brook boys stuck his hand through a show case with such force that he cut an artery.

Miss Emily Mraz spent the week end with her parents in Brainerd.

Fred Cossette returned to his home in Brainerd Saturday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Delore Rosier motored to Brainerd Saturday.

Quite a few St. Mathias people went to Ft. Ripley Saturday night to hear the radio but were disappointed as there was too much static.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom DuBois and family spent Sunday at the home of Louie Derosier.

Mr. and Mrs. N. LaBlanc and son Robert, visited with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Philip Magnan Sunday.

The card party at Gene Veillette's Sunday night was well attended.

The ladies of the St. Mathias Catholic church will give a supper and fair Sunday evening, Oct. 29th at David Gaboury's home.

Mrs. Mons will give the card party Sunday, Oct. 22nd at her home. Everybody welcome.

Miss Augusta Koering of Brainerd visited with her parents Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Veillette visited at the home of Geo. Franklin on Sunday.

C. W. Koering of Brainerd was in this vicinity Sunday.

Mrs. Al Veillette and son of Brainerd are visiting relatives here this week.

Ernest Benson had the misfortune to turn turtle with his Ford roadster last week, while returning from Belle Prairie. Mr. Benson was slightly injured but his Ford wasn't so lucky.

The Home Oil Co. delivered oil in this vicinity last week.

ASSOCIATION NOTES

Registration, assignments, and exhibitions will be in the First Congregational church.

Rest room and writing room have been installed in the First Methodist church.

Temporary telephone service has been installed in the First Congregational church for those who wish to make inquiries about registration or assignments in connection with the convention.

The feature of this evening's program is the illustrated lecture on the "Survey of Religious Education." The assignment committee is still far short of having enough reservations for entertaining the visiting delegates on the Harvard plan. Brainerd citizens are again requested to open their homes for this purpose.

To the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church of Hallock, Kittson county, goes the honor of registering the first delegates to the State Sunday School Convention today.

Three delegates arrived from Hallock at 7 o'clock last evening. One of these delegates was secretary of the Kittson County Association during the term that Rev. S. M. Kelly, now pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, was president.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular, because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

BRAINERD'S WELCOME

BRAINERD welcomes the delegates who have arrived or will arrive in this city to attend the sixty-fourth annual convention of the Minnesota Sunday School association.

In extending this welcome Brainerd is doing more than would be done by a city whose life was normal. The railroad strike, which is responsible for over 1,000 of our citizens being idle, has inevitably affected the conditions of our civic life. It is absolutely impossible during a strike to avoid conflicts of opinion. It is also impossible for people to provide hospitality if conditions have made it impossible for them to do so.

However, despite the fact that this situation exists in Brainerd, our citizens have planned to go through with their part of the program which includes the entertainment of the delegates who attend.

The citizens of Brainerd are convinced that your coming into our city will make a contribution to our life that is incalculable. You are representatives of the Teacher who gave to the world a philosophy which contains man's best hope. Doubtless there are those of our inhabitants who are compelled to ask, as they look over the conditions that obtain in the city due to the strike, how it is that despite the fact that the Sunday School association is holding its sixty-fourth annual convention, the things for which the Sunday school stands, brotherhood, charity, sympathy, forgiveness and other virtues, are not in evidence in human relations. For such a question there is more or less ground; but, on the other hand, the hospitality of our people is indicative of the existence of these virtues. Things are never brought about by attempts at improvement that begin at the circumference, they are made effective by beginning at the center. Every evidence of good that there is in the world suggests that by the diffusion or extension of the good a larger good will be realized.

Our citizens generally hold that if the things for which the Minnesota Sunday School association stands were practiced in the life of men in social, industrial and economic affairs, this city would not be at this time in the conditions that it is. If the things that the delegates have been taught were given way in adjusting difficulties that arise between individuals and groups the order of society would be vastly changed for the better. Accordingly, the present conditions of our city and state, arising out of the labor troubles, which are responsible for a shortage of coal and for the difficulties the farmers face as they attempt to market their produce, are a challenge to this association. The forces of righteousness stand indicted charged with failing to accomplish the things that it is their purpose to accomplish. The training of the children in such a way that they will work out the principles of the Sunday school in the affairs of everyday life, when they have reached the stage of participation in such affairs, is the task of the Sunday school in America.

Intelligent investigation leads to the conclusion that the failure of society to function in a Christian spirit does not lie in any failure of the teaching of the Master of men to hit the mark but in the failure of people to apply this teaching to the practical affairs of life.

Brainerd welcomes this convention because its citizens know that only in such activities as it represents is there hope for the future of the race. The in-coming of the delegates will not call for the hiring of a larger police force to preserve order. The principles for which they stand are capable of promoting the best order. These principles protect the deposits in our banks much better than any police force can protect them. The people of Brainerd will sincerely hope that the spirit engendered in the city as a result of the assembling of the convention in our midst will make for the very best relations in this city.

While there seems to be something ironical about the meeting of such an organization in such a city as ours is at this time, a situation that reflects on your program, all except bitter critics of religious organizations, will agree that your program is good. Even if they see that it is not worked out satisfactorily and does not get the results that are suggested in it, our people remember that no organization has ever changed human nature generally and that in the principles underlying your organization there lies the greatest hope of such a change being brought about.

Brainerd welcomes the delegates, Brainerd will do the best it can to afford hospitality, despite the conditions that obtain in the city, and Brainerd believes that you will do the city good. The hope of changed conditions rests with the children, and the parents of the children in this state have, very largely, placed the religious training of their children under your care.

HISTORY

Hilding Swanson has lived in this District since 1888. Since 13 years old has been engaged in various manual and clerical occupations at the saw mill and railway shops, and worked his way thru school at Valparaiso (Scientific 1908) (Academic 1909) and Yale (Law 1912). Was Representative from 1917 to 1919 and now Senator from this District. Practiced law at Brainerd over ten years.

Your candidate fully supported his platforms of 1916 and 1918, and has voted and supported every labor, farmer, child welfare, and equal suffrage measure, as well as every measure in favor of business and industrial interests, except those against public policy, during the four sessions of the Legislature in which he served, and he believes he has accomplished something valuable for his District.

He has championed the cause of the common people during his term as public official and believes his record will show that he has faithfully served all of the people of his District, without fear or favor, and he will continue to do so if re-elected.

He stands squarely on his record for Re-election and believes his legislative and industrial experience better qualifies him to serve his District and State.

RE-ELECT SWANSON TO THE SENATE ON NOVEMBER 7, 1922

ADVERTISERS RECOVER FIRST, DEALERS TOLD

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Courage and intelligence, faith and patriotism were recommended as qualities necessary to win the struggle for a return to prosperity by Herbert J. Hodge of Kansas City, speaking before the National Federation of Implement Dealers associations, of which he is secretary.
"I believe those manufacturers who have continued to advertise during the period of depression will be the first to profit when normal conditions return," the speaker said.
One most serious problem, Mr. Hodge said, was that many country dealers are getting out of the business.

Nervous Feeling Due to Gas on Stomach

Pressure of gas on heart and other organs often causes a restless, nervous feeling. Simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adlerika, expels gas and relieves pressure and nervousness almost INSTANTLY. Acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel. Adlerika removes matter you never thought was in your system which poisoned stomach, causing gas and nervousness. EXCELLENT to guard against appendicitis. Johnson Pharmacy, Adv.

BRAINERD'S WELCOME

BRAINERD welcomes the delegates who have arrived or will arrive in this city to attend the sixty-fourth annual convention of the Minnesota Sunday School association.

In extending this welcome Brainerd is doing more than would be done by a city whose life was normal. The railroad strike, which is responsible for over 1,000 of our citizens being idle, has inevitably affected the conditions of our civic life. It is absolutely impossible during a strike to avoid conflicts of opinion. It is also impossible for people to provide hospitality if conditions have made it impossible for them to do so.

However, despite the fact that this situation exists in Brainerd, our citizens have planned to go through with their part of the program which includes the entertainment of the delegates who attend.

The citizens of Brainerd are convinced that your coming into our city will make a contribution to our life that is incalculable. You are representatives of the Teacher who gave to the world a philosophy which contains man's best hope. Doubtless there are those of our inhabitants who are compelled to ask, as they look over the conditions that obtain in the city due to the strike, how it is that despite the fact that the Sunday School association is holding its sixty-fourth annual convention, the things for which the Sunday school stands, brotherhood, charity, sympathy, forgiveness and other virtues, are not in evidence in human relations. For such a question there is more or less ground; but, on the other hand, the hospitality of our people is indicative of the existence of these virtues. Things are never brought about by attempts at improvement that begin at the circumference, they are made effective by beginning at the center. Every evidence of good that there is in the world suggests that by the diffusion or extension of the good a larger good will be realized.

Our citizens generally hold that if the things for which the Minnesota Sunday School association stands were practiced in the life of men in social, industrial and economic affairs, this city would not be at this time in the conditions that it is. If the things that the delegates have been taught were given way in adjusting difficulties that arise between individuals and groups the order of society would be vastly changed for the better. Accordingly, the present conditions of our city and state, arising out of the labor troubles, which are responsible for a shortage of coal and for the difficulties the farmers face as they attempt to market their produce, are a challenge to this association. The forces of righteousness stand indicted charged with failing to accomplish the things that it is their purpose to accomplish. The training of the children in such a way that they will work out the principles of the Sunday school in the affairs of everyday life, when they have reached the stage of participation in such affairs, is the task of the Sunday school in America.

Intelligent investigation leads to the conclusion that the failure of society to function in a Christian spirit does not lie in any failure of the teaching of the Master of men to hit the mark but in the failure of people to apply this teaching to the practical affairs of life.

Brainerd welcomes this convention because its citizens know that only in such activities as it represents is there hope for the future of the race. The in-coming of the delegates will not call for the hiring of a larger police force to preserve order. The principles for which they stand are capable of promoting the best order. These principles protect the deposits in our banks much better than any police force can protect them. The people of Brainerd will sincerely hope that the spirit engendered in the city as a result of the assembling of the convention in our midst will make for the very best relations in this city.

While there seems to be something ironical about the meeting of such an organization in such a city as ours is at this time, a situation that reflects on your program, all except bitter critics of religious organizations, will agree that your program is good. Even if they see that it is not worked out satisfactorily and does not get the results that are suggested in it, our people remember that no organization has ever changed human nature generally and that in the principles underlying your organization there lies the greatest hope of such a change being brought about.

Brainerd welcomes the delegates, Brainerd will do the best it can to afford hospitality, despite the conditions that obtain in the city, and Brainerd believes that you will do the city good. The hope of changed conditions rests with the children, and the parents of the children in this state have, very largely, placed the religious training of their children under your care.

ENTHUSED OVER BARNUM POULTRY

R. E. Bemmels Makes a Tour of Inspection to the Various Chicken Farms in That Region

THEIR WORK DOWN TO SCIENCE

Poultrymen Figure Their White Leghorns Net Them on an Average of $2 Per Hen Per Year

R. E. Bemmels, poultry enthusiast, made a trip to Barnum Saturday, and made a tour of inspection to the different chicken farms in that vicinity.

Barnum has the reputation of being one of the greatest poultry raising centers in the United States, if not in the world. While Mr. Bemmels was there one of the bankers sold two poultry farms to two Englishmen, who only left their homeland nine days previously, and who had come direct to Barnum because they had heard of it as being a great poultry center.

Mr. Bemmels visited the Hugo Anderson farm at Barnum. Mr. Anderson is a baby chick specialist, and will go into this line more extensively than ever next season. He will winter seven thousand white Leghorns this year.

One thing very noticeable was that the farmers and business men of Barnum and vicinity were not feeling the tightening up of business, but seem to be getting along very prosperously. Mr. Bemmels attended a Farm Bureau meeting and was much impressed with the optimism that was shown and the pep with which the meeting was carried off.

Mahtowa, town six miles north of Barnum and a big poultry center, was also visited. Two large chicken farms were investigated in this section, one the Park Creek Poultry Farm, owned by J. P. Peterson, the other Woodland Baby Chick Farm, M. T. Nelson, proprietor. It is interesting to note that both of these big farms have promised to send exhibits to the Crow Wing County Poultry Show in December.

These poultrymen have their business down to a science, and keep very close account of their income and expense. They figure that their white Leghorns net them on an average of $2 per hen per year after deducting all expenses and considering their investment. On a flock of one or two thousand hens this makes a very neat income.

Mr. Bemmels inquired of several farmers their reasons for developing their community into a poultry center, and in each case received the same answer, that the wonderful atmosphere and absorbent soil of Minnesota was ideal for poultry raising and that there is less disease among the flocks here and less loss from chicken epidemics than in any other section of the country.

Another large chicken raising center is Petaluma, California, that makes a nice profit on shipping eggs clear across the continent to the New York market. Minnesota should be able to do the same or even better with only half the distance to ship.

People come from all over the country to view the Barnum and Mahtowa farms, so great is the reputation of these localities for poultry raising. There is a movement on foot among the farmers of Crow Wing county to make a tour of inspection to this district, which is only 125 miles from Brainerd.

This is only one evidence of the interest in making Crow Wing county a great poultry center. Our farmers realize that this locality is even better situated than the Barnum community for the chicken industry. This county is more centrally located, has railway connections in all directions and a great deal of cut-over land that could be turned to a profit in this business.

So great is the interest that is being taken in poultry raising in northern Minnesota, that the directors of the Crow Wing County Poultry Show are planning to make this annual event a great Northern Minnesota exhibition, instead of just a local affair. The publicity committee is getting in touch with county agents in all of the northern part of the state and are communicating with advertisers in Minnesota poultry journals in an effort to bring in a great many exhibitors for this occasion.

The dates for the poultry show are December 1st and 2nd, just enough time intervening to get the exhibition birds into tip-top shape so that they will look their best among the other competitors. The directors ask that every farmer and poultry fancier make a special effort to boost the coming show, and to help make it the biggest event of the entire year.

THANKS FOR COURTESIES

P. M. Zakariassen, in Charge of the Brainerd Tour to Dairy Show, Voices Appreciation

During the National Dairy Show held at the Minnesota State Fair grounds last week, a delegation of Brainerd business men escorted their farmer friends, about one hundred in number, to Minneapolis for a two-day visit at the exhibition.

This delegation was met at the Minneapolis city limits by a committee from the Mill City Civic and Commerce Association and by members of the motorcycle police squad, who acted as an honorary escort through the city and to the fair grounds.

P. M. Zakariassen, chairman of the committee in charge of the Brainerd tour, wrote to the police department of Minneapolis, thanking the officers for the courtesies shown our delegation, and A. C. Jensen, superintendent of police, answered in the following letter:

"Dear Sir: This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter of October 14th, in which you express your appreciation for courtesy extended your delegation during their visit here to the Dairy Show.

"I can assure you that letters of this kind are highly pleasing to us, and I wish you to know that we are always glad to extend a welcome to visitors from our neighboring localities."

The Minneapolis police department did themselves exceptionally proud in showering favors on the Brainerd aggregation, and all around in their praise of these officers' attentions. No doubt other towns similar to this one will be made at future dates, and the attitude of the Twin City officers will be pleasantly remembered.

ROTARY BY RADIO, PROGRAM ON TONIGHT

The Minneapolis Rotary club is holding a special meeting in that city tonight for the purpose of sending out a program by radio from station WLAC.

In this program there will be Rotary talks by President Hal Paris of the Minneapolis club, Norman Black, district governor, of Fargo, N. D., Harry Bert Craddock, a national director of Rotary, and other prominent Rotarians.

Music will be broadcasted by talented member of the Minneapolis club.

Arrangements have been made by the Brainerd Rotary club to listen in on this fine program through the courtesy of the Taylor Sales Service and Bruce Hayes.

Rotarians will have a special meeting this evening to take in this concert, and are asked to meet at the home of A. J. Hayes, 523 Holly street, at 7:45, to take in this concert.

ALLEGED ARMY DESERTER CAPTURED

George Shepard an alleged army deserter from Camp Lewis was picked up in Brainerd Wednesday evening at the Lyceum theatre by the local police who have been on the look-out for him for some time, knowing that his relatives live in this city.

He was taken to Fort Snelling on the early morning train today by Police Captain Oscar Risberg, and handed over to the authorities at that place.

The police department is hearing round-about complaints about parties who are maliciously putting acid in the eyes of cows owned by people in Brainerd. This is a most serious offense, and any definite information that can be given Chief Erick Graff will be greatly appreciated. The police are anxious to put a stop to such a practice and are anxious to get definite information upon which to work.

Bethlehem Lutheran Church

The committee on arrangements requests the cooperation and help of all the ladies of the church and friends. Two meals will be served by the Bethlehem Lutheran church on Friday at 12 and 6 o'clock. We expect to take care of the guests in the city. Our friends are also invited to come and taste our well cooked and delicious meals.

Come let us labor together. Committee on Arrangements.

NOTICE FOUNDRY EMPLOYEES

There will be a meeting of Local Union No. 28 Thursday evening, October 19th at 7:30 to adjust the affairs of the local. All members are requested to be present.

CLINKERED CLAYS AND SHALES USED

Prepared Primarily as an Artificial Gravel for Highway Surfacing Replacing Crushed Rock Etc.

MAY BE USED ON ROADS HERE

Coming Season it is Probable That a Number of Demonstration Streets May be So Surfaced

In the office of County Engineer Walter M. Murphy are a number of samples of clinkered clays and shales, prepared primarily as an artificial gravel for highway surfacing in areas where crushed rock or gravel of satisfactory quality cannot be obtained without considerable expense for hauling.

It is planned to produce clinkered clay in a semi-portable or knock-down type of plant that can be readily moved in the field to any convenient road side location desired. In general, the cost is estimated at less than $2 per cubic yard.

The clinkered clay somewhat resembles blast furnace slag in structure, which is an excellent material for all types of concrete work. It is thoroughly vitrified, though of a cellular nature, and on that account it weighs approximately one-third of what crushed rock weighs of equal volume. Aside from the power required to drive the mechanical equipment used in making this product, a ton of fuel will make twenty-five cubic yards of clinkered clay.

In addition to the usual cost involved in earth excavation, approximately ten cubic yards of the clinkered product per day per man represents the labor cost. The time required to burn the clinker is from twenty to thirty minutes.

This coming season it is probable that a number of demonstration stretches of from a quarter to a half mile each will be surfaced with clinkered clay in this section. In some instances raw clay will be tried as a binder. Other tests will probably be run without a binder, by spreading the material on the road in much the same manner that gravel is now worked from the shoulders of the road into the ruts as traffic develops them.

In other cases the product will be tried with various grades of bituminous binder, such as tars, asphalt, etc.

Heretofore, clays and shales only have been used in making the clinker. It is now planned by County Engineer Murphy and F. A. Glase, mining and civil engineer of Brainerd, to carry out tests in making a similar clinker by combining sand and marl from Crow Wing county.

Mr. Glase has had charge of all the work done with the new clay clinker. So much favorable attention has been attracted to this work that the University of Minnesota is conducting tests upon the product furnished by Mr. Glase, with a view to establishing its value in making concrete. If these tests show satisfactory results it may be that the people of the clay areas of the Mississippi valley can greatly cheapen the cost of all their future concrete work as well as to effect at moderate cost wonderful improvements in their country highways, making them all-year-round roads.

Hall-Cowles

On Wednesday, October 18th, occurred the wedding of Charles M. Hall and Miss Anna Cowles, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

The pleasing ceremony was performed by Rev. O. S. Winther, of the Bethlehem Lutheran church, at the home of Mr. Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hanson, 615 Maple street. The happy couple left immediately for Pelican Rapids where they will make their home for the present.

The Dispatch joins in offering congratulations and best wishes.

Drop a Stitch Club

On Wednesday evening, October 18th, a number of young ladies met at the home of Miss Sophie Birkie and organized a sewing club, called the "Drop a Stitch Club".

The evening was spent in sewing and music. Light refreshments were served.

Hawley-Strause

Deward E. Hawley and Miss Louise Strause, both of Little Pine, were united in marriage at the manse of the First Presbyterian church on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. S. M. Kelly performing the ceremony.

NOTED FRENCH PIANIST

Maurice Dumesnil Appears Sunday Afternoon, Oct. 22, Under Brainerd Musical Club Auspices

The coming of Maurice Dumesnil, the noted French pianist, to Brainerd, Sunday afternoon, October 22nd, under the auspices of the Brainerd Musical club, will be an opportunity for our music lovers to become acquainted with an artist who, for several years, has won the admiration both in style and interpretation, of music lovers in all parts of the world.

This is Mr. Dumesnil's first American tour of any great extent, and his playing should create a great deal of interest owing to the novelty of his program and the newness of many of his selections.

Mr. Dumesnil comes to Brainerd not so much a stranger as some would think. A great deal of his music has found its way to the concert stage, and has been played by several well known artists. His arrangements and settings of South American folk songs are having quite a vogue all over Europe, and are making a distinct hit wherever he has rendered them in this country. He will play some of this music at the coming recital.

If there is any place of interest to be seen, Mr. Dumesnil certainly will have his note book ready. Places of interest, new people, manners, customs and costumes have long been his hobby. He always asks about the folk lore of the country or countryside, the traditions of the people and the history of the town. His note book comprises many people and many countries. There is hardly a civilized country in the world that he has not visited. He can talk intelligently of the history of the country and its customs.

No matter from what composer he interprets, Mr. Dumesnil has studied the people from that composer's time and country. He brings out their natural characteristics. This makes him a very interesting musician and adds much to the attraction of his program.

COMMITTEE NAMED ON STRIKE REMEDY

President A. T. Fisher of the Brainerd Business Men's Association, complying with the motion made at recent meeting of the business and professional men to consider the strike question has appointed the following committee of which Con O'Brien is chairman and the preliminary meeting is called for 3 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 19th:

Con O'Brien, chairman, Mons Mahlum, W. H. Cleary, G. D. LaBar, Dr. R. A. Beise, H. A. Swanson, A. L. Hoffman, F. H. Gruenhagen, A. G. Trommald, C. D. Johnson, T. B. Brusegaard, H. F. Michael.

FANNING WITH ARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Oct. 19.—Much of the taint of commercialism that has been weakening the prestige of baseball as the national sport was removed by the late world's series.

The act of the New York club owners in turning over the receipts of the second game to charity brought the game over a very dangerous place.

It might be said that they could do nothing else and save baseball, but the fact is they did it and their motives were relatively unimportant.

Figures showing that each club got for its share only $41,218 out of the total receipts of $484,921, mean that the series practically was played for the profit of the players.

Anyone familiar with what it cost to get ready and stage a series knows that the Giant and the Yankee club owners lost money on the series.

For entertainment alone during the 1921 series, the two New York clubs spent nearly $50,000 each.

Because the club owners of pennant winning teams do not begin to get a real cut of the gate receipts until after the fourth game, when the players cease to get a share it might be desirable for profit to have the series go the limit.

When it went in five games, with one game removed from the figures, it certainly indicates that commercialism is not the factor in baseball that skeptics have been wont to believe.

Even though they lost money, it was good business for the Giants to win the series in straight games. With a new park, more commodious and more accessible, being built by the Yankees, the Giants had to have some big drawing power to hold their own next year. If the fans have to choose between the two clubs on a basis of class, they certainly will become followers of the Giants next season.

Had it not been for the desire to make the Yankees look as inferior as possible, it is understood that McGraw planned to start young Jonnard on the mound in the fifth game to give the boy a chance and get him ready for next year.

Chances are that Jonnard would have won his game as the Yanks were so thoroughly beaten before they went on the field that Casey Dolan or Hughey Jennings might have pitched a winning game.

Baseball's hold has become so strong on the public that it is doubtful if anything can destroy the game—not that anyone wants it destroyed, but on several occasions incidents have happened that threatened its existence.

After the disfavor caused by Umpire Hildebrand's actions in stopping the second game of the series it was thought that the worst blow of all had been struck and that the series had been ruined.

Just the reverse happened, however. The crowds became greater instead of decreasing and the park was closed an hour before the third, fourth and fifth games.

The game is stronger now than it ever was before and it will remain that way if the club owners and the players are careful.

AMUSEMENTS

Mae Murray in "Idols of Clay"

The languorous South Sea islands mingle with London's Limehouse slums in George Fitzmaurice's latest production, "Idols of Clay," which will have its final showing at the Lyceum theatre tonight. Mae Murray and David Powell are the featured players. The story was written by Ouida Berger.

The central characters are Faith Merrill, a pretty, innocent creature living with her father, Jim Merrill, a derelict, and his dissolute partner, Blinky, on an obscure South Sea island. Merrill and Blinky sell illicit rum to the natives in return for smuggled pearls. To the island comes Dion Holme, a young sculptor, who is drifting around the world in the effort to forget an unfortunate affair with a Lady Cray, in London. Faith picks him up half-conscious on the beach, but his considerable talent for working in clay returns. Later, Jim Merrill is killed in a drunken brawl and Dion, completely restored, returns to London to take up his career again.

The exciting adventures that befall Faith when she attempts to follow him form the remainder of the action.

"Oh, Johnny!" Fast Romance of the West

"Oh, Johnny!" in which Louis Ben- nison will be seen at the Lyceum theatre, Friday and Saturday, has more than the ordinary values of film comedy.

When Adele Butler leaves her chum and partner, Johnny Burke, to live with her fashionable relations on Long Island, she is just as unspoiled, simple and charming a girl as you could wish to find anywhere. Her aunt and uncle, however, though of one of the oldest families in the East, have most of the defects and few of the qualities of their kind. They spoil the girl, instill false ideas and false values into her head until she is in a fair way to become like them.

So much so that when Johnny appears to visit her she is at first inclined to be ashamed of her old chum and partner. She is delighted to see him and she can never forget his kindness, but after the excitement of the meeting has worn off she sees his uncouth manners and his lack of the superficial graces too vividly.

R. R. GRADE CROSSING ACCIDENTS INCREASE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Oct. 19.—Accidents on railway grade crossings are increasing at an alarming rate, according to Ivan Bowen, state railway and warehouse commissioner in his report made public.

The same condition are obtaining throughout the country. Last year 45 were killed and 127 injured in 115 accidents. This year, up to September 30, 44 were killed and 81 injured in Minnesota. This is higher toll than in Illinois or New York where the traffic is much greater.

YANK AND GERMAN TEARS TO FLOW WHEN 1,200 LEAVE RHINE

Coblenz, Oct. 19.—There is no unhappier lot of soldiers in Europe than the 1,200 Yanks keeping watch on the Rhine, which is the result of their returning home. Until now there was no happier lot of Yanks anywhere. With 3,000 marks to the dollar the "bucks" were sitting on the top of the world. Was ever an army so lucky?

There wasn't a German hausfrau in Coblenz where American bucks were billeted, who hadn't a cellar full of hams and sausage and sparkling Moselle against a cold winter.

When Old Glory is lowered from Ehrenbreitstein and the last Yank trails back across the Rhine, there will be many a tear in German eyes.

FARRAR RABBIT'S FOOT BRINGS $17.50; AUCTION TOTAL NEARLY $40,000

New York, Oct. 19.—A rabbit's foot—possibly the traditional left hind one—stained with the fading rouge from Carmen's cheek, was exchanged for $17.50 cash on the last day of the auction sale of the effects of Geraldine Farrar, who has left the opera for the concert stage.

The four days' sale, a curb market in thrills for the "merry flappers" who crowded the Fifth avenue shop, brought $39,902, it was announced.

Starting on the first day with the household goods of the house where Geraldine lived with her actor husband, Lou Tellegen, from whom she has parted, the sale ranged through the gorgeous trappings of the opera, through the knick knacks of Miss Geraldine's makeup box, to the last object sold, "a bundle of odds and ends."

MILEAGE BOOK LAW WINS TRAVELERS' SUPPORT FOR KELLOGG

Minneapolis, Oct. 19.—Services of Senator Frank B. Kellogg in obtaining passage of the interchangeable mileage book law at this session of congress are noted in a circular just sent out to Minnesota traveling salesmen by the National Council of Traveling Men's associations. As a member of the interstate commerce committee of the senate Mr. Kellogg took an active part in shaping the bill and getting it through.

"The National Council of Traveling Men's associations," the circular said, "take pleasure in acknowledging the splendid services of Hon. Frank B. Kellogg, United States senator from Minnesota, whose co-operation and support aided in the unanimous passage through both houses of congress of Bill No. 848, providing for the issuance of an interchangeable mileage book. This legislation will result in much saving of time and money by the traveling business public."

Commercial travelers and businessmen generally are asked in the circular to show their appreciation in the campaign. "The speedy enactment of further remedial legislation," it says, "will depend to a large degree upon the measure of loyal support which you extend to those representatives who, regardless of partisanship, have loyally supported your best interests in congress."

There is Strength in Every Tablet of This Newer Form of Iron

One dose often helps commence to enrich your blood and revitalize your worn-out exhausted nerves—it is a newer form of iron, like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach. It is so prepared that it will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. It is ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood while some physicians claim metallic iron which people usually take is not absorbed at all. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of this newer form of iron—three times per day, after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

NOTE—The manufacturers of this newer form of iron know that it is the most reliable since its introduction it has reached the stupendous sale of over 4,000,000 packages annually, and it has been used and highly recommended by former U.S. Senators, Members of Congress, Judges of U.S. Courts and many others. We are able to guarantee that if you do not obtain all the even greater results than you expect from this iron from the manufacturers will promptly refund your money.
